

Let me count the ways to wear Runway...

1. Naturally: Long look. Wear the clasp in the back. This gives you a slimming effect as well as being taller.

2. Choker: start out w/the Natural look (long), criss-cross the shiny oval links and bring to the back, using the Clip It to connect together. W/this look you can add any of the Pendants/ enhancers like Stylin' or Camille

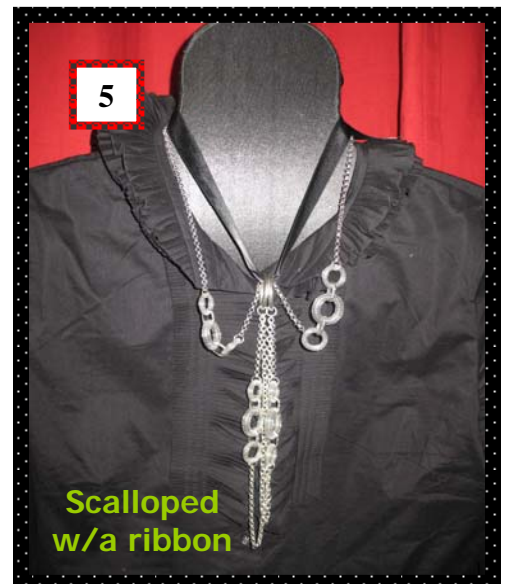

3. Tripled:

If the Choker look is a little too snug, go w/this look. Wear the plain chain around your neck, unclasp it, then you criss-cross the ends and bring to the back of the neck and clasp it closed.

4. As a Belt: if it fits, wrap around your waist & clasp it onto a link so it fits snugly around your waist/hip area. If not, you can use two "Clip Its" & clip it onto the belt loops (one on each side), or use a ribbon to extend it around your waste. Remember ribbon comes in whatever size you need & in array of colors.

5. Scalloped & with a Ribbon: Wear Runway Naturally, loop your ribbon into both of the shiny oval links and then lift it up and tie the ribbon in the back. This gives it that scalloped look. Best to use a thinner piece of ribbon w/this look.

6. Adding pieces to Runway: Wear Runway naturally, add the Bellissimo necklace by connecting the toggle bar to one of the smaller mesh links (either side), then wrap the other end around the back of the neck & clasp one of the smaller chains closest to the toggle link. The Bellissimo is in an angle, and then as a finishing touch add the Chamille pendant on the opposite side. Pin it thru a smaller link right above the small mesh loop. (For an even more dramatic look add Lady Fair – pearls by doubling it around the neck – 2 layers)

7. W/a Ribbon: Unclasp it, loop one end thru the oval shiny oval loop, then take the other end & put it thru the other shiny oval loop (it criss-crosses). Put each end thru each small mesh links, & then close the clasp. Take your ribbon and loop it thru each of the shiny oval loops and either tie it in back or on one side (as shown)

8. W/a Clip It: Wear the plain chain around the neck, unclasp it so it hangs down, then grab each end (do not criss-cross) and clasp it at the back. Then take the Clip It and link the two smaller mesh links together.

But don't stop there, play with Runway and you may come up with even more ways to wear it. You will amaze everyone because they'll think you have a bunch of jewelry but in fact it is only one piece.

Enjoy Runway!
